

Main body of the financial market report containing numerous columns of stock prices, interest rates, and exchange rates for various international markets.